Upcoming General Membership Meeting
Tuesday, September 15, 2015, 7-8 p.m.
Social Half-Hour begins at 6:30
Immanuel Lutheran Church
1700 Westport Road
Guest Speaker: Representative,
City Planning & Development Department

The September 15 meeting will be held at our normal location at Immanuel Lutheran.

Neighborhood leaders and city planners have been meeting for well over a year to develop a new Midtown/Plaza Area Plan. The first draft has been written and is now available for public comment. A representative of the City Planning and Development Department will review the new plan and take questions. The draft is available for download at <https://data.kcmo.org/Area-Plans/DRAFT-Midtown-Plaza-Area-Plan-4-21-2015/hq9u-8anu>

A raffle will end the meeting. All 2015 members are eligible to enter. If you have not joined the WPNA or have not yet renewed your membership for 2015, use the form on page 6 to do so. ■

Carry West Plaza Around with You!

Fall Cleanup

Saturday, October 10, 8 a.m. to ?

Bring your yard waste and large household refuse to the Fall Cleanup, a service co-sponsored by WPNA and KCMO. One dumpster for yard waste and one for household trash will be parked on Wyoming, just south of 47th Street and east of Westwood Park. You must be a resident of the West Plaza to participate. Volunteers will help you unload, and we will accept items until the dumpsters are full.

Come early to ensure space for your items, but in consideration of the volunteers, do not arrive before 8 a.m. Once the bins are full, the event is over. Do not leave items outside the bin or throw them over the top. The truck driver is not allowed to drive with an overfilled dumpster.

Scrapper Roger Argeropolous (816-521-8592) will be onsite to accept your metal items. He will also come to your residence upon request.

We reserve the right to limit quantities. No hazardous waste (including paint), computer equipment, electronics, or tires. No commercial ventures, please.

A truck from Cross-Lines will be present to accept your gently used, working items. Note what you CAN and CANNOT bring for Cross-Lines:

YES: New and used furniture, housewares, clothing and accessories, shoes, and large and small working appliances. All donations must be in good working condition with no need of repair.

NO: Computers and computer equipment, mattresses and box springs, office furniture, and weight equipment. ■

Looking Back: The More Things Change...

by Joe Montanari

To commemorate the Missouri State Centennial in 1921, the Missouri Valley Historical Society issued a special edition program featuring a number of articles written by early Kansas City pioneers. One little gem that caught my eye was written by Washington Henry Chick in 1911, when he was 85 years old. Chick's father was Colonel William Miles Chick, one of Kansas City's earliest English-speaking settlers, and one of the fourteen original founders of the Town of Kansas. Arriving here with his family in 1836, Colonel Chick established a store, where he "engaged in the general merchandise business." These are the recollections of his son, who came to Westport as a ten-year-old boy:

"When we settled in Westport," Chick recounts, "there were probably not over fifty persons living in the town. I do not remember where there was another store in the town. James M. Hunter was then running a saddler's shop, beside these, I think there were no business houses, unless you call dram shops (taverns) business houses, of these there were several.

"My father's store was located on the northeast corner of the square where the old Harris House was afterward built. It was a two-story double log house, and the family lived in the upper part of the building. The hazel brush was very thick all around the town. Just back of the store room, within twenty feet of it, it was fully ten feet high, and so thick a dog could scarcely get through it.

"The trade at that time was with the Indians, Shawnees and Delawares, principally, but many other tribes did much of their trading in town. There were but few whites living west of the Blue River at that time.

"The Indians were very fond of whiskey, and as the dealers were ready to supply them, they drank heavily. I have seen as many as one hundred drunken Indians in the town at one time, riding their ponies at full speed, greatly to the danger of pedestrians. It finally became so bad that the citizens of the town and country took the matter in hand and resolved to put a stop to the sale of whiskey to the Indians. In a mass meeting, they decided to demand of saloon keepers that they deliver their stock of liquors to a committee of citizens to be held by them until they could make some disposition of them. Some half dozen of them complied; one man would not do so.

"The people gathered en masse, went to his saloon, when he met them at the door with an axe in his hand, and said he would kill the first man attempting to enter his door. Possibly somewhere between thirty and fifty men were in the crowd. After parleying with him for some time, a young man by the name of William Jack cried out: "My Daddy sent me here to do the work," picked up a log lying in the street, put it on his shoulder, and said, "I must do it, come on boys." He made a run for the door, knocked the man with the axe down and the door into kindling wood. They rolled the whiskey into the street, knocked in the barrel-heads, poured the whiskey into the gutter, broke every bottle in the shop, and then retired peacefully to their homes.

"This, for a time, settled the saloon business in Westport, but soon the saloons again opened, but were disposed to be more careful about selling to the Indians, and Westport enjoyed a season of quiet."

Folks often say that history repeats itself, but I'm not so sure about that. Perhaps, as the French say, "Plus ça change, plus c'est la même chose" (the more things change, the more they stay the same).

Washington Henry Chick died in 1919 at age 94 and is buried in the Mount Washington Cemetery.

Thanks to Bill Russell and his mother, the late Nancy Russell, a great Westport historian; thanks also to the archivists at the Missouri Valley Room, Kansas City, MO Public Library. ■

A Note from John Toms

Hello, Friends and Neighbors -

I want to remind you that most of the crime occurring in West Plaza is property crime, much of which can be prevented by using simple methods that will help keep you from becoming a victim. Unfortunately, most people implement these ideas and techniques after they have already been victimized.

Looking at your home from a different perspective may keep you from becoming a victim. Criminals are looking for the easy target. Many of the crimes that have happened in the last month or so could have easily been prevented, such as lawn equipment stolen from a front porch or items stolen from inside a car. It takes a little more effort to bring tools inside or to carry things from your vehicle, but that extra effort may prevent you from becoming a victim.

I know many people are already doing exactly what I recommend, and they should be commended for making West Plaza a safer place to live. ■

FORKS & RAKES by Stephanie Murrell

Homemade Strawberry Lemonade

Prep time: 15 minutes

Ingredients

8 large strawberries, halved
2 tablespoons white sugar
7 cups water, divided
1 cup white sugar
2 cups freshly squeezed lemon juice

Directions

Place strawberries in a blender; top with 2 tablespoons sugar. Pour 1 cup water over sugared strawberries. Blend until strawberry chunks transform into juice. Combine strawberry juice, 6 cups water, 1 cup sugar, and lemon juice in a large pitcher; stir until blended. Chill before serving.

Optional: Add a jigger of Vodka, if you please. ■

Summer Lawn Care

If spring lawn care is about getting your lawn healthy and green, summer lawn care is about keeping it healthy while temperatures soar and rainfall is intermittent. It's also about maintaining a lawn that can withstand all the barbecues, games, parties, and running feet that summer has to offer. Here are some tips for keeping your lawn in shape over those long, hot days of summer.

About Summer Lawns

After the spring growing season, summer brings quite a bit of stress to lawn grasses. The heat and drought of summer are damaging to grass. However, by understanding and respecting the seasonal changes of turf grasses, you can take steps to care for your lawn as the mercury rises.

Cool-season grasses (such as fescue, bluegrass, and rye) grow best when temperatures are in the 60s. Warm-season grasses (including Zoysia, St. Augustine, Centipede, and Bermuda) like temperatures in the 70s.

Once temperatures get into the 80s and above, lawns will begin to struggle. Growth will slow, color may fade, and lawns will show signs of wear and tear as they are less able to recover from stress and traffic. Some cool-season lawns will even go dormant in the summer, looking brown and brittle until early fall.

Water Wisely

Lawns need at least one inch of water per week, and more when the heat is severe. Use a rain gauge or straight-sided can to keep track of the amount of water received from rainfall and irrigation. Water deeply and less frequently to encourage drought-tolerant roots. Water early in the day to reduce evaporation and fungal growth.

Either water your lawn regularly and deeply, or don't water at all. Don't let your lawn go brown and dormant, then try to "water it back to life." If your lawn goes dormant in summer, it should stay that way until fall. It should recover once the weather changes.

Mowing Tips

Raise your mower blade in the summer. Taller grass is more drought-tolerant, grows deeper roots, and helps shade the earth to prevent weed seeds from germinating. Cool-season grasses should be mowed at 3"- 4" during the summer, or as high as your blade will go, while warm-season grasses should be mowed at 2"- 3". Mulching grass clippings helps keep moisture levels steady. Mow regularly to prevent cutting more than 1/3 of the grass blade at a time. This keeps your grass healthier and prevents the clippings from smothering the grass. Keep mower blades sharp. Make sure your mower is cutting your grass, not tearing it, to minimize stress during hot temperatures.

Cats without Borders

A Fundraiser Created by the WPNA

by Stephanie Murrell

Sharon Martin, who manages the West Plaza Feral Cat program,* recently responded to an urgent call concerning a colony of seven feral kittens and adult cats found living in deplorable conditions near 45th and Rainbow Blvd. in Kansas City, KS (Spring Valley neighborhood). Without hesitation, Sharon volunteered to trap all seven. She paid out-of-pocket to cover spaying/neutering for each cat, plus the medical procedures and prescriptions for the cats with life-threatening medical issues.

The good news is since that day, two cats have been released, two kittens were adopted out, and she has two cats and one kitten still at home under her care. The not-so-good news is that Sharon has been burdened with a $475.00 and growing vet bill. To make matters worse, she learned there are many more feral cats in the Spring Valley neighborhood that need to be trapped and neutered so they don't continue to reproduce and make their way to West Plaza. The WPNA Board will work with Spring Valley Neighborhood Association to start their own feral cat program, but in the meantime, we can't lose fundraising momentum to reimburse Sharon for the money she has already paid out.

How can you help? If you are able to make a donation in any amount, please go to www.tilt.com and type "cats without borders" in the search bar. Your credit/debit card will not be charged unless we hit the minimum goal of $500.00. To date we are at 65% of our goal.

You can also mail a check payable to West Plaza Neighborhood Association, PO Box 32826, Kansas City, MO 64171-7826. On the memo line, be sure to write "Cats without Borders."

WPNA is a 501(c)(3) organization, so your donation is tax deductible.

Why do we need your help? Because the location where the cats were found falls outside of West Plaza boundaries, the money allotted to the West Plaza Feral Cat program* cannot be used. The Board Members of the West Plaza Neighborhood Association chipped in money out of their own pockets to start reimbursing Sharon, but we soon realized the ongoing care was racking up more than we could cover alone. So, to fully reimburse Sharon, the WPNA has set up an emergency fund called "Cats without Borders" to address this situation, and if we have fundraising success, to cover future animal emergencies that fall outside of West Plaza boundaries.

*The West Plaza Feral Cat program was started in 2012 as a humane way to control the feral cat population in our neighborhood. The Trap-Neuter-Return method allows cats to live out their lives in their familiar surroundings without increasing the population, and the colony eventually dies out from attrition. In the program's first year, 30 cats were trapped, spayed/neutered and returned. To date, the program has spayed/neutered more than 60 West Plaza feral cats.

THANK YOU for helping us care for the most vulnerable of creatures, while making a difference in the community by controlling the feral cat population! ■
